

Breaking down barriers for employees with disabilities

Ted Kennedy, Jr., Co-Chair of the Disability Equality Index, and Jill Houghton, CEO of Disability:IN, will join Buck to share their insights on how to better support employees with disabilities and foster a culture of workplace inclusion. You'll also hear from employers who are prioritizing accessibility in their workplaces.

Hiring and empowering employees with disabilities offers significant benefits. Companies that score 80% or higher on the Disability Equality Index are usually 30% more profitable than their peers. Workplace accommodations typically cost $500 or less per employee.

Our speakers and panelists will cover:

- Why disability inclusion in the workplace matters
- How to encourage employees to self-identify
- The steps you can take to earn a score on the 2023 Disability Equality Index
